Thought leaders in the dental field call ToothShower “hygienious.” Lisa has made preventative dental care easy and accessible—something many didn’t think possible. With cleaner teeth, patients are spending less time at dental check-ups. Now that professionals in the field see the results, Lisa’s challenge is helping consumers understand the value of ToothShower.

No matter where Lisa worked, she saw the same problem—gum disease. She knew it was preventable with simple flossing, but patients weren’t taking her advice. That’s when she invented ToothShower. It’s easy to use, stays in the shower, and eliminates the mess and space issues that come with water flossers.
